

1964-12-16

Edgecliff Student Newspaper

Edgecliff College - Cincinnati

Follow this and additional works at: http://www.exhibit.xavier.edu/edgecliff_newspaper

Recommended Citation

Edgecliff College - Cincinnati, "Edgecliff Student Newspaper" (1964). Edgecliff College Newspaper. Book 185.
http://www.exhibit.xavier.edu/edgecliff_newspaper/185

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the Journals, Publications, Conferences, and Proceedings at Exhibit. It has been accepted for inclusion in Edgecliff College Newspaper by an authorized administrator of Exhibit. For more information, please contact exhibit@xavier.edu.

20 Nominees

Edgecliff Seniors Join Ranks Of Who's Who

Twenty Edgecliff seniors have been selected for recognition in Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities.

In selecting the nominees, the faculty-student committee was asked to consider the student's scholarship, her participation and leadership in academic and extra-curricular activities; her citizenship and service to the school; and her promise of future usefulness.

The nominees follow.

English major Teresa Barwick is the editor of The Edgecliff. She is treasurer of the Edgecliff Players, president of Pi Delta Epsilon and a member of the staff of the literary annual. She has been assistant and associate editor of The Edgecliff and has received the "Apostle of the Word" award. Teresa is minoring in French and philosophy.

Claranne Cicallelli, president of the Red Cross Unit, is a member of the Science Club and vice-president of the campus organ of the Catholic Students' Mission Crusade (CSMC). She is majoring in biology with minors in philosophy and chemistry. Claranne has also served as secretary and treasurer of the CSMC.

With a major in elementary education and minors in social studies and language arts, Barbara Costa is president of the CSMC. She is also serving on Student Council. Barbara has been vice-president of both CSMC and the Red Cross unit in the past.

President of the Literary Guild, Kathleen Crosby is an English major and a French, philosophy and education minor. She is serving as president of the Literary Guild, secretary of the Edgecliff Players and treasurer of the Senior Class. Kathleen is a reporter for The Edgecliff and was junior representative to Student Council and May Queen attendant as a sophomore.

Gail Flanigan, senior representative to Student Council, is president of the Music Club and a member of the Choral Club. She was junior class treasurer and also attendant to the May Queen that year. A member of the German Club, she is a mathematics major with minors in German, philosophy and education.

Student Council president Joanne Grace is a history major with philosophy and political science minors. She has been active in the National Federation of Catholic College Students (NFCCS) serving as Regional Contemporary Issues Secretariat Chairman as a junior. Joanne belongs to the International Relations Club, (IRC), and the Literary Guild.

An art major with minors in history, education and philosophy, Martha Gutzwiller is co-chairman of the Liturgy Committee. Active in the NFCCS and taking the capacity of "Art Head" of that organization, she also belongs to The Art Club, serving as chairman. Martha is active in CSMC and has been a member of the Edgecliff Players and the literary annual staff.

Active in Sodality for four years, Annette McKinney is the present prefect and was secretary-treasurer last year. She is circulation editor of The Edgecliff and has received the "Apostle of the Word" award for journalism. A member of the Sociology Club, Annette is majoring in sociology and minoring in history and philosophy.

Julie Mooney, a history major with speech and drama, education and philosophy minors, is president of the Edgecliff Players and was treasurer of the club last year. She is a member of Alpha Gamma Omega, National Catholic Dramatic Fraternity, and a columnist for The Edgecliff. She has also belonged to the Choral Club.

(Continued on page 4)

The Edgecliff

Vol. XXX

Our Lady of Cincinnati, "Edgecliff," Cincinnati, Ohio, December 16, 1964

No. 4

Artists Use Varied Liturgical Themes In Banners For Advent Program

Today the traditional Edgecliff Advent Program in Sullivan Hall will be the last activity on campus prior to the start of the Christmas vacation.

The students, each bringing a gift for a needy boy or girl, will join to form a procession to the first floor promenade of Sullivan Hall. Student council members and class presidents will carry banners with Joanne Grace, Student Council president, carrying the college banner.

After the entire student body assembles and the gifts have been offered, senior class president, Susan Schmitt, will light three candles on the Advent wreath and the assembly will pray together the Collect for the third week of the Advent season.

After Joanne Grace presents the students' Christmas gift to Sister Mary Virginia, president of the college, seasonal hymns will be sung by the assembly. In conclusion each student will receive a gift folder designed by Barbara Huy and printed in the Edgecliff art department.

The Advent banners which are carried in the procession depict seasonal themes selected from the scripture and inspired by the Liturgical renewal. The following students made the banners, using burlap, felt, and yarn: Linda Beardslee, Patricia Brady, Virginia Carroll, Barbara Costa, Patricia DeFrancisco, Diane DeSalvo, Carol Dignan, Mary Ann Eckes, Karen Hackman and Kathleen Herbert.

Other students who contributed to the project include Tara Hogan, Barbara Jones, Judith Keim, Barbara Leis, Marigrace Ross, Elizabeth McCaffrey, Ann Martinson, Mary Margaret Morath, Merle Schumacher, Barbara Spahn, Kathleen Wilke, Sister Mary Clela, R.S.M., Sister Mary Raymond, S.C.S.C., Sister Rosemarie, R.S.M., and Sister Albert Mary, S.N.D. deN.

Clubs Sponsor Yule Festivities, Parties, Plays

Edgecliff students have already begun their Christmas activities in their clubs and for various groups in Cincinnati.

The Red Cross sponsored a Christmas Show for the veterans in Fort Thomas, Kentucky. Skits enacted by members of each of the four classes were followed by a song fest, "hootenanny" style.

On the agenda for the CSMC is a party for fifty-one children in Cincinnati who are taught each week by volunteer catechists from Edgecliff. As part of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine program, Sunday, Dec. 20, will be devoted to festivities in the holiday spirit. Gifts donated by various students will be given to the children from "Santa."

Also on Sunday the Intercollegiate Tri-lingual club is having a Christmas party sponsored by Villa Madonna College. Representatives of each of the three language clubs on campus will attend.

Edgecliff Players' Christmas Party, Dec. 15, featured the play Anticlockwise under the direction of Sister Mary Doreen, R.S.M. A buffet dinner followed in honor of the members of the Edgecliff Academy.

Mme. Vreeman, assistant in the French department, was the guest at the French club meeting, Dec. 10. Some of her young French students from Hyde Park presented a Christmas pageant for the club.

Freshmen Prepare For Ball; Decor Centers On Christmas

Christmas is with us once again, and with it comes the annual Yuletide Ball.

The ball will be held Dec. 26 in the Marie Antoinette Ballroom of the Hotel Alms. The seniors were in charge of procuring a band.

According to Susan Schmitt, senior class president, "Frankie Brown's Orchestra will provide the music and they're really great."

The juniors are in charge of the chaperones and invitations, while the sophomores take care of the refreshments. The decorations are the responsibility of the freshmen.

Sandy Bollinger, freshman class president, says, "The committee is carrying through the Yuletide theme by making a Christmas tree for each table and a larger one for the ballroom."

The dance is sponsored by the Student Council which has invited the entire school.

Joanne Grace, president of Council and general chairman, says, "All the ingredients will be present for every girl and her escort to have the happiest, most enjoyable Christmas yet."

Editor Discusses Marxist Decline

The International Relations Club of Edgecliff will hear guest speaker Dr. John D. Molloy Jan. 6.

Dr. Molloy, a member of the faculty of both Our Lady of Cincinnati College and the University of Cincinnati, is associate news editor of the Cincinnati Enquirer.

An instructor in political science, Dr. Molloy's topic for discussion will be "The Declining Marxism." Invitations have been issued to students from Edgecliff, Xavier, Mount St. Joseph, Villa Madonna, and U.C. The public is invited, especially international students and all persons interested in current world affairs.

Norma Lages, I.R.C. president, recently expressed the view that "anyone who claims the title of 'college student' cannot consider herself well-informed without a working knowledge of current affairs; this is an excellent opportunity to converse with an expert."

The meeting will be held at 7:00 p.m. in Grace Hall 204. Refreshments will be served following Dr. Molloy's talk.

Bringing gifts of clothing for the poor is a part of the Advent program at Edgecliff. Jane Wolfe, Jacquelin Woodruff, and Robbyn Smith wrap their gifts prior to the ceremony.

Christmas On The Square

Christmas in downtown Cincinnati is an enjoyable experience for every member of the family.

The thousands who turned out for the lighting ceremonies on Thanksgiving evening are ample evidence that Christmas on Fountain Square is becoming a tradition in Cincinnati. It seems appropriate that new traditions should build up in an age when commercialism has taken over.

The trees, representing different countries around the world, and the sparkling Tyler-Davidson Fountain are pleasing sights for the eye, while the continuous caroling raises the spirits of every haggard Christmas shopper.

Cincinnati Unlimited, an organization dedicated to promoting Cincinnati as a cultural and educational center, does a commendable job as coordinator of the preparations.

Volunteers, including members of the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and students from Central High School help to erect the display each year.

Various church and school groups offer their services as carolers throughout the Christmas season.

Interested business leaders in the retailing and manufacturing fields, and all members of Cincinnati Unlimited, provide the necessary funds.

The cooperation from all areas is an excellent example of community spirit in action.

Plans are now being made for Cincinnati Unlimited to merge with the Chamber of Commerce the first of the year. It is hoped that the impetus they have given to a revitalized interest in the downtown area of Cincinnati will continue to operate and result in more concrete examples like "Christmas on Fountain Square."

Challenge

Stanleyville Massacre Widens Rent

by Norma Lages '65

In recent weeks Pope Paul VI traveled throughout India and his appeal for peace was overwhelmingly applauded by the people of the world.

Yet a few days earlier on two continents anti-Western, and particularly anti-U. S. sentiments had exploded. This hatred took the form of raging mobs in Moscow where the U. S. and Belgian embassies were pelted with rocks or in Cairo where the John F. Kennedy Memorial Library and 27,000 books were destroyed.

These actions were triggered by the Communist world's disapproval of the rescue operations conducted by the U. S. and Belgium in Stanleyville. New rioting in Sudan has been launched by the rebels.

The story is a tragic one of much human suffering and bloodshed. Five months ago Congolese rebels captured the city of Stanleyville, and set up a "People's Republic." Since that time anyone regarded as a foe has been brutally executed. U. S. and Belgian officials intervened when 2,000 white people were threatened.

Before aid could arrive twenty-eight white people were executed, among them Dr. Paul Carlson. This man has been singled out because he symbolized to the white men their desire to help the Africans. Dr. Carlson was not a politician, he was simply an M.D. trying to do his job for humanity, guided by Christian principles.

For the past five years the African people have been declaring their independence loudly, and consequently there are fifty different governments in Africa today. The recent massacre was undertaken by the Simbas, one of many savage tribes who war with each other and beat their chests against the white imperialists. Their complex about being a backward nation is displayed by their attempt to project African individualism.

The relationship between the whites and the blacks is abnormal and the rent will be long in healing. The Africans cannot forget their exploitation by white mercenaries; likewise, memory of the Stanleyville massacre will continue to linger in the minds of the white population. But eventually the Africans will have to accept outside aid in some form to give the solidity that is lacking before they can be successfully independent.

The Arts

Peggy O'Shea Returns For 'Cinderella'

by Julie Mooney '65

Christmas is approaching at a rapid pace and the Edgecliff Academy has opened its doors for another exciting winter season. Rogers and Hammerstein's Cinderella, which will run from Dec. 7 through Dec. 20, promises all the fun, fantasy, and finesse which combined to make previous holiday productions such "smashing successes."

The title role of Cinderella belongs to Miss Peggy O'Shea, who has graced the boards at Edgecliff on numerous occasions, dating back to the Academy's birth almost four years ago. In fact, to quote Peggy, "Edgecliff is like a second home."

Eager to learn more about the "real" Peggy O'Shea, Cinderella, acting, and the theatre in general, I phoned Miss O'Shea and set up an interview. With pen and paper and a few hundred questions, I set off for the scheduled meeting, only to discard my list of inquiries after a few minutes for the sake of simply listening to Peggy and enjoying her warm and charming personality.

In the course of our conversation,

Food For Thought

Providing free lunches to worthy school children is a recently adopted project of the Citizens Committee of Cincinnati under the direction of Judge Benjamin Schwartz of Juvenile Court.

Under the Committee's intensive and thorough investigation, freeloading is virtually impossible. A child is given a meal ticket only after his needs are proven to be substantial and real.

This program is conducted in both public and parochial schools, which makes it especially commendable. Disregarding the child's race or creed, the only factor the Committee considers is his temporal needs. A hungry child cannot learn. Only after his bodily needs are fulfilled is his mind free to think, to learn and to create.

Initially the plan seems to have had some trouble getting off the ground. Perhaps this is due to the reluctance of the parents to admit that there is a need.

However, the lunch program is being effected for a ninety-day testing period. We hope that with the conclusion of the trial session, a full-time program for needy children will be enacted and conducted in the Cincinnati school systems.

Letter To The Editor . . .

Dear Editor:

This is an open letter to the student body. I hope you will find space to have it published in the next edition of the paper.

Dear Student Body:

It is with great satisfaction that I write this letter tonight.

Edgecliff students — who are not singular in this respect — have often exhibited the epitome of apathy when confronted with activities planned for their benefit or for their development as women. They have also been quick to criticize yet slow to offer an alternative suggestion for betterment of a given situation.

But on November 19, the city of Cincinnati — and the nation — saw the real spirit of Edgecliff. That day, you students participated in the "Fast for Freedom," sponsored by the United States Youth Council, through your Student Council and the campus unit of NFCCS.

It is unnecessary really to thank you for your cooperation in the project, since the real fruition of such a sacrifice is found in your own selves; but still, special recognition should be given to the 126 resident students who signed away their lunches so that Saga Food Service, through the efforts of Mr. Robert Bohrer, could give a rebate check to the "Fast." To these students, and to those day students who actually did give up part or all of their lunches in order to contribute, may I express my appreciation on behalf of the sponsoring organization. To the administration of the college also goes a very special thanks, for without their suggestions and help, the project would not have been the success that it was.

Let this be only one more step in the formation of an active collegiate apostolate here at Edgecliff. There are many areas and projects which lack only one thing to make them a success — YOU!

Very sincerely yours,
Sylvia Sieve, President
Mason-Dixon Region NFCCS

Campus Calendar

DECEMBER

- 16—Christmas vacation begins at noon
- 26—Yuletide Ball

JANUARY

- 4—Classes resume
- 5—Music Club Meeting
- 6—Edgecliff Players Meeting
- 12—IRC Meeting
Saddlemates Meeting
- 13—French Club Meeting
Science Club Meeting
Literary Guild Meeting
- 18-22—FINAL EXAMS
- 21-22—Registration
- 25-27—Retreat
- 28-29—Semester break

THE EDGECLIFF

The Edgecliff is the official publication of Our Lady of Cincinnati College, Edgecliff, Cincinnati, Ohio, conducted by the Religious Sisters of Mercy. It appears monthly throughout the year.

Member
Ohio College Newspaper Association

Associated Collegiate Press

Catholic School Press

EDITOR
ASSOCIATE EDITOR
ASSISTANT EDITORS
ART EDITORS
CIRCULATION EDITORS

REPORTERS: Kathleen Crosby '65, Barbara Kuehe '65, Cecilia Russell '65, Susan Schmitt '65, Jeanne Deters '65, Judith Goertemoller '66, Laura Weaver '66, Martha Wichman '66, Kathleen Addison '67, Sally McDermott '67, Barbara Winkler '67, Mary Ann Wolking '67, Laura Endejann '68, Kathleen Kelly '68, Patricia Lowstuter '68, Paula Lubke '68, Mary Claire Steible '68, Nancy Tarter '68, Mary Lynn Yancey '68.

FACULTY MODERATOR

Miss Helen Deisel

As far as formal education is concerned, Peggy said that she could never be a good student because she is much too interested "in the basics, like seeing, smelling and tasting," to limit herself to one specific area of study. "I just enjoy living and life. I'm so very, very happy to be alive."

Peggy starts a jig-saw puzzle before beginning work on each new play. "I look for the very hardest one I can find."

I remarked on the frustration connected with assembling jig-saws, but she convinced me that it was a healthy outlet after rehearsing. "I concentrate so hard on finishing the puzzle as fast as I can, that I forget about rehearsing and relax."

Peggy's favorite playwright is Chekhov, and she dreams of the day when she can play the mother in "The Cherry Orchard."

She is a fan of Geraldine Page, and likes all good music from jazz to the classics. When I asked her about acting on Broadway, Peggy said the atmosphere is much too commercialized, and that she wants to act where she can grow, which is part of being alive. She feels that the best way to become an actress is by acting, and learning from your mistakes.

A daily routine of exercise is followed by Peggy to "tune-up" for her roles. She dislikes ingenuite parts, but confesses that she is frequently cast in them. Peggy enjoys doing "Cinderella" and welcomes the opportunity to perform for children with "their marvelous imagination and perception."

In concluding the interview, I asked Peggy if she were afraid of anything.

"You only waste time being afraid," she replied. "I'm not afraid of anything, not even snakes. I love snakes, which probably has some Freudian connotation."

Realizing I was out of my element, I bid her "adieu."

O
HOLY
WOOD
OF CRIB AND ROOD
TODAY LET BE
Y
O
U
R
CHRISTMAS TREE

—Sister Madaleva

Senior Presents 'Anticlockwise' As Thesis Play

To fulfill the requirements for a major in drama, Sister M. Doreen, R.S.M. presented Muriel Box's Anticlockwise in Emery Ballroom yesterday.

The presentation of the play preceded a dinner meeting of the Edgecliff Players.

A modern play, Anticlockwise concerns "Aunt Clara's" strange death, and its effect upon her two nieces.

The cast of four includes: Aunt Clara, a rich old maid, played by Jane Stehle; her nieces, Emily Jackson and Mrs. Elizabeth Aldringham, portrayed by Mary Ann Espelage and Karen Donnellon; and Dr. Richmond, played by Martha Hilmer.

Since Sister M. Doreen expects to teach drama after June graduation, and most of her work will be as a director, she is "glad for the experience of learning the practical problems of a play director, and the management of the phases of producing a play which the audience never sees."

Mr. John Going, drama instructor, is advising Sister M. Doreen in her first experience as a director.

Instructor Leads Chamber Music

Mr. Helmut Roehrig, instructor in music, directed a chamber orchestra concert at the Jewish Community Center last Thursday.

The chamber orchestra consisted of amateur and semi-professional Cincinnati musicians. Mr. Max Rabinovitsj, assistant concertmaster of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra and instructor of violin at Edgecliff, was the guest soloist at the concert.

Cincinnati Offers —

Populace Enjoys Christmas Highlights Throughout City

by Judith Goertemoeller '66

If you're like most students you have probably planned "to the minute" what you'll be doing with all the precious free time in the coming Christmas vacation. If you do your planning well you are sure to include a few of the special Christmas season events offered in the city. The possibilities are varied, exciting and intended especially for the young and the young at heart.

Of special notice while you're downtown is the lifesize "Nativity" scene at Lytle Park. Live animals (a whole flock of sheep) and figures dressed authentically for their parts make this scene most realistic. On the feast of the Epiphany, Jan. 6, there will be an enactment of the arrival of the "Three Kings at the Crib."

Music and carols will be heard when the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra presents its two holiday concerts. The first one, "The Sound of Christmas," Dec. 19, will feature the symphony orchestra, the Four Star Singers and a delightful combination of popular and classical Christmas music.

The second concert is the Kinderkonzert Dec. 26 and 27. In this special event for little brothers and sisters, the children will hear many of their favorite songs played and after the performance will be invited onto the stage to meet the members of the orchestra and see their instruments close-up.

Eden Park, besides offering the seasonal enjoyment of ice skating on the pond, has special Christmas highlights. Brilliant red poinsettias and white chrysanthemums will be the center of attraction in the floral Practicing for singing a midnight Mass on Christmas Eve at St. Mary's parish are Martha Gutzwiller (at piano), Kathleen Crosby and Margaret Winstel.

Once Upon A Christmas Dreary . . .

Once upon a Christmas dreary as Edgar Allan Plodwick sat writing the great American novel, suddenly there came a rapping as of someone gently tapping, tapping at his chamber door.

Having previously hung a sign on the door saying "Genius At Work — Do Not Disturb," Edgar was much incensed at this impertinent and uncalled-for intrusion.

"Remove your person from my threshold now!" he hissed in blank verse. (Edgar was a literary buff. He had studied at Tintern Abbey under Emily Dickinson and was a bit snobbish about his credentials.)

The tapping, however, continued and even grew increasingly louder.

Furor taking hold of him, Edgar stalked to the door, threw it open with a bang that made the Complete Works of Horatio Alger clatter from his shelf, and in a booming lyrical rasp yelled, "WELL?"

No sooner had he spoken when what should whiz by his ear but a raven in a Santa Claus suit who perched on the bust of Emily Bronte which Edgar kept on the mantelpiece.

"WELL?" Edgar repeated in a dulcet tone.

"I am the ghost of novels past," croaked the raven, a single pin-feather falling from his wing and floating dramatically to the floor.

"WELL?" Edgar repeated again, not much appeased at this declaration.

"I say, fellow, you are becoming redundant," quoth the raven.

"SO?" sneered Edgar rudely.

"If that's the way you feel about it," said the raven, "I can take my gift elsewhere."

"YOUR GIFT? . . . I mean . . . your gift?" queried Edgar.

"Yes," the raven said. "I have for you a magical pen made from one of my own feathers. The ancient proverb promises that he who possesses the pen shall never get a rejection slip."

"Heavens to Dickens!" yelled Edgar. "I must have it!"

"Here is the pen and here also is some magical ink made from the tops of BIC pens ground under the full moon at midnight by the ghost of Nathaniel Hawthorne and mixed with stump water. With it your writing success is assured." And with these words the raven left him.

Edgar clutched the pen in his hot little fist and made straight for his desk and the co-rascible bond pad. Dipping the magic quill into the magic ink, he laid the point against the paper and with painstaking care and fervor wrote:

A Merry Christmas to All and to All a Good Night.

Volunteers Join St. Mary's To Sing Midnight Mass

Christmas at St. Mary's parish at 13th and Clay Streets will include a special program this year when volunteer seminarians and college students join the parishioners in singing midnight Mass.

The volunteers are participating in a project begun by the Very Rev. Carl Piepenbreier, OP, administrator at St. Mary's parish. According to Sister Mary Rosine, RSM, chairman of the Art department, Father felt that St. Mary's needed assistance in liturgical renewal and worship and in the social area. Feeling he could get the right kind of help from college students and seminarians, who would understand the problems of peoples of a deprived area, Father asked for volunteers from Edgecliff, Mt. St. Joseph College and the seminaries.

Each Sunday since the feast of Christ the King, the volunteers have assisted at Sunday Mass at St. Mary's, helping to lead the singing and answer the responses in the new liturgical form. Martha Gutzwiller, senior, is chairman of the group, which includes sixteen volunteers from Edgecliff.

In addition, a social activities committee, co-headed by Margaret Yocis and Peggy Winstel, has co-operated in Saturday night dances at the parish. Social meetings and parties are also being planned by the committee, consisting of eighteen volunteers from Edgecliff.

The two groups will highlight their projects by singing Christmas midnight Mass at St. Mary's. They will form the nucleus of the choir, which will include volunteers from Edgecliff, Mt. St. Joseph College, the Seminaries and the Glenmary Sisters.

Gingersnaps

When Vanity Fair is read by the normal intellectually acute student, she may have problems with the meaning of a phrase which appears, namely "sitting bodkin."

Webster says that bodkin is a dressmakers' tool used for threading ribbon through eyelet lace. Webster's direct answer to my inquiry did not suffice. I determined to do extensive research just as many other learned students of literature always do.

After considerable traveling (five miles to Finneytown) I interrogated Granny Victoria Queen as to the exact meaning of a bodkin. Poor Granny was amazed at my ignorance and difficulty in ascertaining the meaning and use of the word. After recovering from severe shock, she gave this authoritative answer:

"The ladies of the mid-Victorian era inserted ribbon of baby blue or shrimp pink into the eye of the bodkin. Then they wove the bodkin in and out of the eyelets of the insertion. Said insertion was then sewed upon the flounces which adorned the many flouncey garments that the ladies wore."

From the foregoing paragraph the reader is able to see what an important part the bodkin has played in the designing, constructing and maintenance of feminine attire.

In fact as Granny says, "The bodkin could be considered the backbone of femininity."

When I ventured to question this premise, she quickly snapped, "Well, you've never seen a football player in flounces, have you?"

Dormies Plan Holiday Feast

Tonight the dorm students will hold their Christmas party.

Paulette Sparacino, president of the Resident House Council, comments, "We'll sing Christmas carols, exchange gifts and have some surprises too."

The dorm students were guests of the school last night for the traditional Christmas dinner planned by Sister Mary Virginia, president of Edgecliff. The candle-light turkey dinner was served by red-jacketed waiters.

Parents Attend Special Evening

Parents of Edgecliff students attended a Christmas buffet in Sullivan Hall last night.

Following the regular Father's Club meeting, the parents met for supper and an evening of Christmas carols presented by the Choral Club.

Edward Benson, president of the Father's Club, was in charge of arrangements.

Home Ec Club Sends Clothing To France

A box of clothing from Edgecliff's Home Economics Club is on its way for the fifteenth year to the Phillipart family in Orleans, France. Guided by Miss Catherine Koch, club moderator, clothing has been sent to the Philliparts at Christmas and Easter since 1949.

Last summer Miss Koch, while traveling through several European countries, met Mrs. Phillipart for the first time. "We charaded it," commented Miss Koch, "since neither knew the other's language."

Mrs. Georgette Phillipart "knew well the name 'Our Lady of Cincinnati'" and asked to be sent "all the news of the dormitory." She also expressed appreciation to Miss Koch and all the Home Economics Club members for the clothing, which is readily used by her five children.

Miss Koch spent five days in Paris, where she met Mrs. Phillipart and her niece, as well as visiting Denmark, Holland, Switzerland, Austria, and spending nearly a week at Lourdes. She feels that her meeting with Mrs. Phillipart was one of the "most enjoyable days of the trip."

VACATION

Christmas begins at noon today. Regular classes will resume Jan. 4. Final exams begin Jan. 18.

Mrs. Georgette Phillipart (left) has been the recipient of packages of clothing from the Home Ec. Club for fifteen years. The picture of her and her niece, Vivian Peyphieu, was taken by Miss Koch this summer on her trip to Europe.

Who's Who (Continued from page 1)

Modern language major Marita O'Daniel has minors in political science and philosophy. She is active in the college language clubs, holding the position of president of both the German and Spanish Clubs and vice-president of the French Club. Marita is secretary to the Inter-Collegiate Tri-Lingual Association. She belongs to IRC and has been a member of the Choral Club and the Red Cross Unit.

President of the Sociology Club, Sylvia Poe is majoring in sociology and minoring in psychology and philosophy. She was secretary of the Sociology Club last year and also treasurer of the Psychology Club. Sylvia has been active in CSMC and has taught catechism classes.

Colleen Powell is a chemistry major with mathematics and philosophy minors. She is president of the Science Club and served as club treasurer last year. Vice-president of Edgecliff Players this year and secretary last year, she is a member of Alpha Gamma Omega. Colleen belongs to the Albertus Magnus Chemistry Club and is a member of the Tutoring Society.

Serving as regional vice-president of the NFCCS this year, Cecilia Russell was also junior and senior delegate to this organization. A member of the Press Club and Pi Delta Epsilon, National Honorary Journalism Fraternity, she has also belonged to the Choral Club, IRC and the Science Club. Cecilia is a biology major with chemistry and philosophy minors.

Chemistry major Martha Scalise holds the position of vice-president of the Science Club. She was secretary of the club last year and belongs to Iota Sigma Pi, Radium Chapter (National Honorary Chemistry Sorority). Martha is a member of the Music and Choral Clubs, the Tutoring Society, and has been a member of the Albertus Magnus Chemistry Club. She is minoring in mathematics and philosophy.

Besides her office as president of the Senior Class, Susan Schmitt is a member of Pi Delta Epsilon and CSMC. A history major with philosophy, political science and classics minors, Susan has been a member of the Press Club and the Choral Club. Serving on Student Council the past three years, she was Junior Class president and class representative in her sophomore year.

Sylvia Sieve is president of the Mason-Dixon Region of the NFCCS. In her sophomore year she was Student Affairs Contact for this organization and Regional Second Vice-President in her junior year. Majoring in history and minoring in philosophy and political science, Sylvia is a member of IRC and has also belonged to the Choral Club and the Edgecliff Players.

President of the Resident House Council, Paulette Sparacino is a member of CSMC, the Red Cross Unit and is vice-president of the Home Economics Club. A foods and nutrition major with chemistry and philosophy minors, she has belonged to the Science Club, IRC and has served as treasurer of the Home Economics Club and Junior Representative to the House Council.

French major Emily Sullivan is a senior representative to Student Council. Presently serving as secretary of the Psychology Club, she is a member of the French Club and was the club's former treasurer. Emily has belonged to the Edgecliff Saddle-mates. She is minoring in philosophy and psychology.

Besides serving as chairman for the Tutoring Society, Kathleen Wuersig is senior class secretary, president of the Psychology Club and a member of the Choral Club, CSMC, the Music Club and the French Club. She was president of the French Club last year. Kathleen is majoring in French and psychology and minoring in philosophy.

Joan Zins is president of the Edgecliff Saddle-mates. A sociology major with speech and drama and philosophy minors, she is a member of the Edgecliff Players and the Sociology Club. Joan has been a member of the Choral Club.

Smiling because the project was successfully completed, Annalyce Irwin, Elizabeth McCaffrey and Ginger Brew, gather together the envelopes Edgecliff students addressed recently for the March of Dimes as part of a school project.

Sports Spotlight

Skater Earns Title 'Veteran' For 3,000 Hours On Ice

by Barbara Kuethe '65

Pat Gierhardt '66 is known as the "Veteran" by her former employer because she has worked longer than any of the other ice-skating instructors at the Cincinnati Gardens.

With six years and over 3,000 hours of experience on the ice, Pat has achieved the perfection of a skilled performer. She has taught at least one thousand people to skate, their ages ranging from two through seventy-two. Remembering the time she instructed her oldest student Pat said, "I really had to do some coaxing with him. But once he learned, he came to skate once every two weeks or so."

Most of her pupils consisted of grade school children from St. Peter and Paul, Cardinal Pacelli, Our Mother of Sorrows and Nativity.

"I became very attached to a lot of those children. They would return every week to show me how well they were doing or to demonstrate a new trick that they had learned. Sometimes they would acquaint me with a brother, sister, or a friend that they had brought along for me to teach."

During the summer, Pat taught retarded children on Tuesday and Thursday mornings before the regular public sessions. Also she instructed children from the Y.M.C.A. once a month during the winter.

"I'll never forget Jimmy, a nine year old blind boy from the 'Y,'" said Pat. "He was very withdrawn and hard to become acquainted with at first, but eventually time took care of that and we became friends. Once he learned, it was amazing the way he'd skate on his own with no fear. Of course I was close by," she adds.

Christmas time is the busy season at the Gardens, when both rinks are open. At times there are 3,000 people for one session. Pat works behind the skate counter whenever she isn't seen on the ice doing spirals, spins, and jumps to her interpretation of the music. Pat enjoys free skating the most because this allows her to make up her own routines and tricks. "I love the feeling of complete freedom when I skate; therefore, I dislike skating when it's crowded," she comments.

Pat feels that she can attribute her choice of being an elementary school teacher to her intimate work with her students at the Gardens.

"I realized more and more that I wanted to work with and help children. I also want to keep up my skating and incorporate it into the school scene by forming a skating club at the grade school where I will be teaching."

First Semester

EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

January 18-22 1965

MONDAY January 18	TUESDAY January 19	WEDNESDAY January 20	THURSDAY January 21	FRIDAY January 22
8:00 202 Biology (GH 311) 305 Education (GH 301) 101 English Sc. 2 (Ad 402) 409 French (GH 108) 407 German (Ad 304) 151 History (GH 109) 201 History (Ad 303) 314 History (Ad 306) 335 Home Ec. (GH 205) 101 Mathematics (GH 312) 301 Music (MA 202) 305 Psychology (GH 301) 419 Speech (Theat.) 101 Theology Sc. 1 (GH 204) 201 Theology (Ad 409)	8:00 103 Art Sc. 2 (Em 308) 209 Biology (GH 310) 106 Education (GH 101) 101 English Sc. 4 (Ad 409) 301 English (Ad 304) 201 French Sc. 3 (GH 109) 305 French (GH 401) 101 German (GH 103) 101 History Sc. 3 (GH 301) 301 Mathematics (GH 108) 309 Music (MA 202) 302 Philosophy (Ad 305) 307 Political Sc. (Ad 302) 321 Spanish (GH 312) 203 Speech (Theat.) 101 Theology Sc. 3 (GH 204)	8:00 309 Biology (GH 311) 403 English (Ad 402) 101 Home Ec. (GH 201) 303 Music (MA 202) 201 Philosophy Sc. 1 (GH 204) 201 Sociology Sc. 1 (Ad 409) 415 Sociology (Ad 304) 403 Speech (Ad 402)	8:00 207 Biology (GH 312) 301 Education (Ad 402) 201 English Sc. 2 (Ad 302) 201 English Sc. 3 (Ad 409) 321 French (GH 109) 201 German Sc. 1 (GH 108) 101 History Sc. 4 (Ad 303) 205 History (Ad 306) 305 Mathematics (GH 301) 211 Music (MA 202) 303 Political Sc. (Ad 20) 310 Sociology (Ad 304) 101 Spanish (GH 401) 409 Spanish (Ad 305) 309 Speech (Ad 403)	8:00 211 English (Ad 305) 414 Music (MA 202) 106 Natural Sc. (GH 301) 425 Psychology (GH 410) 111 Speech Sc. 1 (Ad 302)
Registration for Sophomores A-L
10:00 100 Art Sc. 1 (Em 306) 307 Biology (GH 312) 101 English Sc. 3 (Ad 302) 201 English Sc. 1 (Ad 402) 320 English (Ad 305) 101 French Sc. 2 (GH 108) 201 French Sc. 2 (GH 401) 101 History Sc. 1 (GH 102) 101 History Sc. 2 (Ad 303) 301 History (Ad 306) 323 Home Ec. (GH 203) 102 Mathematics (GH 205) 411 Philosophy (GH 301) 301 Political Sc. (Ad 304) 211 Psychology Sc. 1 (Ad 409) 407 Sociology (GH 408) 305 Spanish (Ad 403) 303 Speech (Theat.) 101 Theology Sc. 2 (GH 204)	10:00 401 Education (Ad 308) 201 English Sc. 4 (Ad 402) 409 English (Ad 302) 201 French Sc. 1 (GH 108) 201 French Sc. 4 (GH 102) 403 History (Ad 303) 303 Latin (Ad 305) 203 Mathematics (GH 312) 401 Psychology (Ad 308) 201 Spanish (GH 401) 101 Theology Sc. 4 (GH 204)	10:00 405 Art (Em 303) 302 Chemistry (GH 412) 301 Economics (Ad 304) 109 Education (GH 401) 215 Education (MA 101) 307 English (Ad 308) 315 English (Ad 302) 101 French Sc. 1 (GH 102) 101 History Sc. 5 (GH 301) 305 History (GH 108) 315 Home Ec. (GH 201) 307 Latin (Ad 402) 421 Mathematics (GH 205) 211 Psychology Sc. 2 (Ad 409) 421 Sociology (Ad 403) 401 Spanish (Ad 303) 421 Speech (Ad 408)	10:00 309 Education (Ad 402) 123 Home Ec. (GH 109) 151 Int. D. (Theat.) 201 Philosophy Sc. 2 (GH 301) 201 Sociology Sc. 2 (Ad 409)	10:00 314 Education (Ad 303) 415 English (GH 109) 411 Home Ec. (GH 108) 311 Mathematics (GH 108) 311 Music (MA 202) 407 Philosophy (GH 301) 311 Sociology (Ad 308) 103 Speech (Ad 302)
Registration for Seniors A-L
1:00 111 Education (GH 401) 310 Biology (GH 310) 401 Chemistry (GH 408) 421 French Sc. 2 (GH 109) 337 Home Ec. (GH 202) 411 Home Ec. (GH 201) 201 Philosophy Sc. 3 (GH 204) 201 Sociology Sc. 3 (Ad 409) 111 Speech Sc. 2 (Ad 302)	1:00 305 Art (GH 101) 101 Chemistry (GH 401) 401 French (GH 109) 402 Mathematics (GH 108) 408 Philosophy (GH 204) 201 Sociology Sc. 4 (Ad 409) 315 Sociology (Ad 304) 413 Speech (Ad 408) 309 Theology (Nov. 11)	1:00 408 Chemistry (GH 408) 101 English Sc. 1 (Ad 409) 103 English (Ad 302) 201 German Sc. 2 (GH 108) 412 Home Ec. (GH 201) 301 Physics (GH 102)	1:00 101 Biology (GH 301) 101 Chemistry (GH 401) 203 Chemistry (GH 408) 121 Home Ec. (GH 108) 411 Mathematics (GH 109) 201 Physics (GH 102) 309 Psychology (Ad 305)	1:00 403 Philosophy (GH 301) 211 Physical Ed. (GH 401) 301 Theology Sc. 1 (Ad 402) 301 Theology Sc. 2 (Ad 409)
Registration for Seniors M-Z
3:00 421 French Sc. 1 (GH 109) 417 Psychology (GH 312) 307 Speech (Theat.)	3:00 321 Home Ec. (GH 202) 415 Psychology (GH 312) 317 Speech (Theat.)	3:00 203 Art (GH 101) 311 Biology (GH 305) 103 Music (MA 202)	3:00 101 Physical Ed. (GH 301) (Freshmen) 101 Physical Ed. (GH 401) (Sophomores) 103 Physical Ed. (Ad 409) 111 Physical Ed. (Ad 409) 201 Physical Ed. (GH 401) (Sophomores) 201 Physical Ed. (GH 301) (Freshmen) 203 Physical Ed. (Ad 409) 301 Physical Ed. (Ad 402) 303 Physical Ed. (Ad 402)	3:00 201 Home Ec. (GH 109) 211 Psychology Sc. 3 (Nov. 10)
Registration for Juniors A-L
4:00 200 Natural Sc. (GH 301)				